It consists of a small box with minute UV lights – non harmful to the human eye, they operate with special batteries that can last at least 6 to 8 hours, depending on how long it is switched on at one time. The device has an on/off switch, giving the client the flexibility to switch the lights on and off as desired.

Once completed, you spray the flowers once or twice, let them dry for a few minutes and switch the device on – and the WOW effect is breath taking.
